

Production

Pre-Production Meetings:

A production team members will meet with you for the first pre-production meeting. We will discuss, ideas, script and the type of animation, video or editing you are looking for your company. The meeting typically lasts about an hour.

The second pre-production meeting we will bring your script, storyboards, caricatures, and or actor, that we will use for your shoot. We will also discuss prices and timetables that we will be working with.

Plan the Shoot-Shoot the Plan

The right plan makes good ideas remarkable. From the first day of the production shoot, we align to your business strategies, working hand in hand with you to define the original vision for your animation or videos.

The Video day/s are long and 90 percent of the time run smooth, your team is always welcome to come and watch us do what we do. The animation is done right in our offices with updates being sent to you daily.

Post-Production

In post-production, we do 2D and 3D illustrations, motion graphics, composers, sound designers, and hire the right voice actors and more. We bring a specialized passion to every project that, when combined, creates something truly memorable.

Details / Details / Details The finished product is most important for us; however, the post-production plays a considerable role in the final animation, video or editing your project! It is indeed where all the magic starts. We make video animation look spectacular and our animated products stand-out in a busy commercial world.

For all your animated, video, long form or corporate production just fill out the form, email us or call me at (515) 321.3732

Michael J. Denison

Coffee Time Design